

Homerton achieves new bed technology through TBM contract

Over the past few months Homerton University Hospital NHS Trust has taken delivery of over two hundred AvantGuard™ beds together with three specialist Affinity® Birthing beds and over 60 dynamic mattresses as part of a TBM contract with Hill-Rom.

The Trust was looking for a concept to develop a more managed service for beds, mattresses and therapy products integrating tissue viability, manual handling and therapy needs. Hill-Rom and the TBM contract met all aspects of the Trust's requirements.

Pauline Brown, Director of Nursing Services said, “The Trust is delighted with the initial phase of the contract together with the service, products and people involved in this project. Hill-Rom have been responsive to the needs of the Trust and all staff have been efficient and helpful.”
